Rethinking on Economic Policies Essential—Shri N. M. Tidke's Plea at Industries Ministers' Meeting

Shri N. M. Tidke, Maharashtra's Minister for Industries and Labour, observed on 19th September 1972 that the declining trend in industrial production and growing unemployment during the recent years was a matter of serious concern which called for a rethinking on the economic policies of the Central Government.

Shri Tidke, who was addressing the State Industries' Ministers' Conference, stressed the need for a comprehensive economic policy wherein factors like price wages, production profits, dividends, etc., should be well integrated and co-related.

Following is the text of the Minister's Speech :—

“The declining trend in industrial production and growing unemployment during the recent years is a matter of serious concern which necessitates a rethinking on the economic policies of the Government of India. There should be a comprehensive economic policy wherein factors like price wages, production, profits, dividends etc., should be well integrated and co-related.

The present industrial licensing policy, though quite liberal, do not lead to rapid industrial growth as expected because of the inordinate delay in implementing the policy in its proper spirit. Therefore, the policy and procedure thereunder also need to be given a second thought.

In regard to larger and monopoly industrial houses while the Maharashtra Government is one with the Government of India in preventive economic concentration, it is of the view that in the interest of rapid industrial growth and employment, instead of restricting the growth of such industrial houses, their operations should be effectively controlled to avoid malpractices or misuses by providing suitable enabling statutory provisions in the fiscal laws and in the Industries Development and Regulation Act. Rigid restrictions on such industrial houses will be detrimental to the industrial growth. To cite an instance, if the fertiliser project of Tata's had been given prompt clearance it could have avoided several crores of rupees worth foreign exchange for import of fertilisers and that too from super capitalist industrial houses of U. S. A. It is suggested that particularly in backward areas where public or joint sector or private sector other than larger industrial houses are not coming forward to set up industries, larger and monopoly industrial houses should be permitted to enter the field.

In order to avoid large scale unemployment due to closure of industrial units, it is necessary for the State to take over such units and run them. However, presently due to lack of adequate funds with the State Government and absence of proper and adequate statutory powers this becomes difficult and the process drags on for years, to eliminate this difficulty it is necessary to make simple but effective legislative provisions immediately. A special financial fund should also be created by collecting, on regular monthly basis, a levy from the industrial workers—say of Rs. 2 per month with double contribution from the employer and the State and Central Government. As a result of this levy it can be ensured that the unemployed persons are reemployed in the same concern.

As it may not be practically feasible to extend the scheme of 10 per cent outright subsidy and other financial concessions to all the districts or areas declared as backward within a short period it would be worth while to classify the backward areas according to their degree of backwardness and offer graded subsidy and incentives to them to accelerate their pace of industrialisation.

“The developmental activities of the State Industrial Development Corporation are likely to be hampered because of the restrictions put by the Reserve Bank of India on their borrowings. It is necessary that a way is found whereby adequate finance is made available to the State Corporations.

“In order to maximise productions and ensure additional gainful employment with the same capital investment, seven days working of industrial units should be encouraged as a normal practice.

“The number of public sector projects of the Government of India located in Maharashtra is extremely small vis-a-vis the All India figure. For stimulating industrial growth in backward areas of the State, it is urged that Government, of India should set up such projects in those areas and this should be done over a period in a planned and phased manner. There is good scope for establishing in public sector, a cement plant in Yeotmal district, a pulp and paper plant and pig iron and integrate, steel plant in Chandrapur district, coal based fertiliser plant and small car project in Nagpur, and illeminite, beneficiation plant and ferrosilicon plant in Ratnagiri district for which abundant mineral and forest resources are available in those districts.

“Allocation of raw materials, in order to be rational, should be based on the assessed capacity of the units as far as possible. The assessment may take a year or so but it is essential to adopt a rational basis once for all.

" A climate has to be created and measures have to be taken whereby educated unemployed persons are employed in increasing number as tives, etc. on the shop floor of the factories with necessary training.

" Industries in small scale sector are finding it difficult to get adeo and prompt finance inspite of nationalisation of the banks. The approach and attitude of the nationalised banks should be more liberal and promotiv rather than purely security minded. When the State Government to revive closed units the banks should come forward to provide cash credit and margin money. The Finance Ministry should prevail on the to do so.

" The loomage which is scrapped due to the closure of the textile mills should be made available to the powerloom sector so that retrenched per- sonnel could be absorbed in the sector and also more employment is generated. The approach to powerloom industry should therefore be more liberal.

" The Industrial Reconstruction Bank which is presently concentrating its activities more in the eastern zone should also extend its assistance and co-operation to the western zone.

" While granting letter of intent or industrial licence to medium or large scale units for items which have a good ancillary potential, care should be taken to ensure that the field of ancillary components is left open to a larger number of small and ancillary units.

" The State Government is grateful to the Government of India for deputing a special team of experts to Kolhapur to assist the recession affected diesel engine industries in diversifying its productions. I may assure the Govern- ment of India that the State Government will make all efforts with necessary help to rehabilitate and diversify the industries as expeditiously as possible.

If steps as outlined above are taken it would go a long way in accelerating the rate of industrial growth and in solving the problem of unemployment

PROGRESS ON THE INDUSTRIES' FRONT

The 25th anniversary of independence gives us an opportunity to review progress we have registered during all these years. Though 25 years is much too long a period in the life of the nation, yet it cannot be denied that first twenty-five years have a significance of their own. For, it is during these years the nation laid the foundation for its future.

It is natural for every citizen to be curious and concerned about the nation's progress because every one, according to his own capacities, is a partner in nation's progress. It would not be enough to judge the progress of the nation only by the progress made in the field of agriculture. Undoubtedly, agriculture is the basis for national development and all our efforts are to ensure this development as such. In this industrialisation plays a vital role and, therefore, it is essential to know the progress we have made in the field of industry and the employment potential it has created to absorb educated, skilled and unskilled persons. In this context there should be no two opinions that the progress in the country is encouraging.

Agro-based Industries

While Maharashtra has taken rapid strides so far as agricultural development is concerned, the strides are striking still in respect of agro-based industries and ancillary projects. The State's industrial policy is drawn up not ignoring the fact that our country is predominantly agricultural and that the need to provide employment to as large a number as possible is underlined.

Not only in Maharashtra but in the entire country, industries were limited to textile mills, to an extent to engineering industries; the reason being our inability to decide our development policy according to our own will. The alien rulers were naturally after finding a market for their raw material, not only for their own country, but for other European countries also.

Imbalance In Industrial Growth

Industrialisation during the pre-independence period was restricted to some few big harbour cities like Bombay and Calcutta. For, the growth of industries depends upon the availability of water, electricity and means of communication. No wonder, the industries grew around big cities, particularly harbours and their hinterland and their proximity. Even after independence, in Maharashtra, industries grew speedily in the surroundings of Bombay and Poona only. During the post independence period industrial engineering industries and those connected with production of cars, trucks, jeeps, chemicals and plastic products grew around Bombay. Industrialisation was then restricted to the suburbs of Bombay and the Thana taluka. From there, it spread to Thana-Belapur area and to Pimpri-Chinchwad, near Poona. In the recent past, along with the engineering industry, refineries, fertiliser factories, basic chemical industries, plastics and dyes and other industries have rapidly come up in this region. The engineering industry has particularly chosen for its growth Poona and its surrounding. The Hindustan Organic Chemicals, near Panvel, promise a good scope to chemical industries in that area.

Dispersal of Industries

In the beginning, the industrial imbalance between Bombay-Poona and the other parts of the State did continue for some time to remove which the State Government established the Industrial Development Corporation in 1962. Till this date, the Corporation has taken up work on 29 industrial estates out of the 33 entrusted to it. This has helped industries to spread out in the other regions of the State also. To ensure speedy industrialisation of the under-developed areas of the State, Government established the State Industrial and Investment Corporation in 1966. By making available financial and other facilities, this Corporation attempts to attract industrial capital. It rebounds to the credit of this organisation that till March 1972, the Corporation is implementing Schemes to establish 1,279 industrial units, estimated to cost Rs. 344 crores, in the undeveloped parts of State. In 1970-71, the Corporation gave Rs. 10.24 crores by way of financial assistance to 108 industrial units. Of these, Rs. 3.88 crores were actually disbursed to 58 units. Till March 1972, Rs. 33.42 crores were sanctioned for 350 units, of which Rs. 12.93 crores were advanced to 216 units. This would indicate that the take off for industrialisation of the under-developed region is promising.

Besides, the Corporation has also given assistance to a number of medium and small industrial units in the State. It had sanctioned Rs. 10.50 crores by way of loans in 1971-72 for the small and medium industries. The four industrial Development Corporations, namely, the Marathwada Development Corporation, the Vidarbha Development Corporation, the Konkan Development Corporation and the Western Maharashtra Development Corporation are also taking steps to remove the industrial imbalance in the various parts of the State.

Mineral-based Industries

The Government is anxious to develop mineral-based industries in the State. The minerals in the State include, coal, lime, iron ore, bauxite and manganese. In 1972 alone, minerals worth Rs. 10 crores were prospected. An aluminium factory is being set up at Ratnagiri. In addition, the glass and cement industry has also shown increased production. The establishment of power generating units at Koradi, Paras and Ballarpur is mainly because of the availability of coal in that region.

Sugar Co-operatives

Maharashtra was the first to produce man-made fibre and during the last 10 years its production has gone up 100 times. In Maharashtra, particularly in the western part, co-operative sugar factories have given a big boost to industrialisation during the past 15 to 20 years. The past two or three years have also witnessed co-operative sugar factories coming up in Vidarbha, Marathwada and Konkan regions. In 1971-72 there were 42 sugar factories out of which 10 were in the private sector. Licences for another 16 co-operative sugar factories have been received and they are expected to start production in the coming two or three years. In keeping with the Government of India policy smaller units with Rs. 1 crore or less capital are being established in the co-operative field. In 1970-71, the total sugar production was 11.5 lakh tonnes which was 31.6 per cent of the national production. Though, compared to the country in Maharashtra land under sugarcane is only 7 per cent, the State's sugar production is 30 per cent of the national production, that is because the per acre cane produce in the State is 40 to 50 metric tonnes as against 16.8 tonnes in other States. The efficient functioning of the factories and the improved methods of cane cultivation have given sugarcane as large sugar content as 11.09 per cent as against 9.47 per cent in the country.

Production of Alcohol

The establishment of sugar factories in the State has helped molasses-based industries to come up in the State. In 1970-71, 11 distilleries produced 528 lakh litres of alcohol. The State has given licences to eight distilleries and they are to go into production during the next two or three years. The production capacity of 11 distilleries, now functioning, is 682 lakh litres and that of those to come up will be 390 lakh litres. In the beginning one distillery was owned by the State and five were in the private sector. The new ones that are coming up are all in the co-operative sector only. This would mean a further boost to chemical industry which would include polyesterine, resin, pesticides, etc. Alcohol is now widely used in drugs and medicines and the State accounts for 60 to 70 per cent of the drug production in the country.

The sugar industry has helped the growth of industries in the un-developed parts of the State. It has helped the agriculturist to understand the importance of capital formation, production efficiency, etc. It has also helped him to realise that agriculture too is an industry and has got to be 'run' as such.

From the employment point of view, small industries are particularly important. Though the policy in respect of small industries is a central subject their development is the responsibility of the State Government. By 1971 there were 30,000 small industries registered in Maharashtra out of the total of 2 lakh small industries in the country; giving a percentage of 15. The small industries sector in the State is producing transistors, radios, optical and electronic instruments, etc.

Maharashtra's Big Share

Maharashtra has an important place on the industrial map of India. Out of the total productive capital in the country, Maharashtra shares 17 per cent; it also accounts for 24 per cent of gross value of output. In the State are registered 1,132 big industries, 261 medium industries and 30,000 small industries.

They provide employment to 13.50 lakh workers. While the per capita production in the country is Rs. 41 that of Maharashtra is Rs. 451 which is the highest. As far as the consumption of electricity for industry is concerned, it is 105.9 KW in the State and 54.9 KW for the country.

The industrial progress during the 25 years can thus be said to be satisfactory. Benefitting from this 25 years' experience, we have to accelerate the pace of our progress. The industrial imbalance has got to be removed, we have also to perform the difficult task of checking unemployment by establishing more and more industries. This would, no doubt, mean a change in our plans and programmes, it would also become necessary to train our youths in a manner as would help them start their own units.

During the pre-independence days we were importing a number of items and our exports were restricted to raw materials. Today, we are producing items which probably we had not then imagined, and are exporting items superior quality to those imported. During these 25 years, we have also made technological advances and it is up to our young men, trained in technology and science, to bridge the gap between the advanced countries and ours.

(3) The employer shall arrange to pay the amount of gratuity, within such time as may be prescribed, to the person to whom the gratuity is payable.

(4) (a) If there is any dispute as to the amount of gratuity payable to an employee under this Act or as to the admissibility of any claim of, or in relation to, an employee for payment of gratuity, or as to the person entitled to receive the gratuity, the employer shall deposit with the controlling authority such amount as he admits to be payable by him as gratuity.

Explanation.—Where there is a dispute with regard to any matter specified in this clause the employee may make an application to the controlling authority for taking such action as is specified in clause (b).

(b) The controlling authority shall, after due inquiry and after giving the parties to the dispute a reasonable opportunity of being heard, determine the amount of gratuity payable to an employee, and, if as a result of such inquiry any amount in excess of the amount deposited by the employer is found to be payable, the controlling authority shall direct the employer to pay such amount as is in excess of the amount deposited by him.

(c) The controlling authority shall pay the amount deposited, including the excess amount, if any, deposited by the employer, to the person entitled thereto.

(d) As soon as may be after a deposit is made under clause (a), the controlling authority shall pay the amount of the deposit—

(i) to the applicant where he is the employee; or

(ii) where the applicant is not the employee, to the nominee or heir of the employee if the controlling authority is satisfied that there is no dispute as to the right of the applicant to receive the amount of gratuity.

(5) For the purpose of conducting an inquiry under sub-section (4), the controlling authority shall have the same powers as are vested in a court, while trying a suit, under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, S of 1908 in respect of the following matters, namely:—

(a) enforcing the attendance of any person or examining him on oath;

(b) requiring the discovery and production of documents;

receiving evidence on affidavits;

issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses.

Any inquiry under this section shall be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 193 and 228, and for the purpose of section 196, of the Indian Penal Code

Any person aggrieved by an order under sub-section (4) may, within sixty days from the date of the receipt of the order, prefer an appeal to the appropriate Government or such other authority as may be specified by the appropriate Government in this behalf:

Provided that the appropriate Government or the appellate authority, as the case may be, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal within the said period of sixty days, extend the said period by a further period of sixty days.

(a) The appropriate Government or the appellate authority, as the case may be, may, after giving the parties to the appeal a reasonable opportunity of being heard, confirm, modify or reverse the decision of the controlling authority.

8. Recovery of gratuity.—If the amount of gratuity payable under this Act is not paid by the employer, within the prescribed time, to the person entitled thereto, the controlling authority shall, on an application made to it in this behalf by the aggrieved person, issue a certificate for that amount to the Collector, who shall recover the same, together with compound interest thereon at the rate of nine per cent. per annum, from the date of expiry of the prescribed time, as arrears of land revenue and pay the same to the person entitled thereto.

9. Penalties.—(1) Whoever, for the purpose of avoiding any payment to be made by himself under this Act or of enabling any other person to avoid such payment, knowingly makes or causes to be made any false statement or false representation shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

(2) An employer who contravenes, or makes default in complying with, any of the provisions of this Act or any rule or order made thereunder shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both:

Provided that where the offence relates to non-payment of any gratuity payable under this Act, the employer shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than three months unless the court trying the offence, for reasons to be recorded by it in writing is of opinion that a lesser term of imprisonment or the imposition of a fine would meet the ends of justice.

10. Exemption of employer from liability in certain cases.—Where an employer is charged with an offence punishable under this Act, he shall be entitled, upon complaint duly made by him and on giving to the complainant not less than three clear days' notice in writing of his intention to do so, to have any other person whom he charges as the actual offender brought before the court at the time appointed for hearing the charge; and if, after the commission of the offence has been proved, the employer proves to the satisfaction of the court—

(a) that he has used due diligence to enforce the execution of this Act, and

(b) that the said other person committed the offence in question without his knowledge, consent or connivance.

that other person shall be convicted of the offence and shall be liable to the like punishment as if he were the employer and the employer shall be discharged from any liability under this Act in respect of such offence:

Provided that in seeking to prove as aforesaid, the employer may be examined on oath and his evidence and that of any witness who in his support shall be examined to corroborate the examination on behalf of the person charged as the actual offender and by the prosecuting authority.

Provided further that, if the person charged as the actual offender by the employer cannot be brought before the court at the time appointed for hearing the charge, the court shall adjourn the hearing from time to time for a period not exceeding three months and if by the end of the said period the person charged as the actual offender cannot still be brought before the court, the court shall proceed to hear the charge against the employer and shall, if the offence be proved, convict the employer.

11. Cognizance of offences.—(1) No court shall take cognizance of any offence punishable under this Act save on a complaint made by or under the authority of the appropriate Government.

Provided that where the amount of gratuity has not been paid, or recovered, within six months from the expiry of the prescribed time, the appropriate Government shall authorise the controlling authority to make a complaint against the employer, whereupon the controlling authority shall, within fifteen days from the date of such authorisation, make such complaint to a magistrate having jurisdiction to try the offence.

(2) No court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence punishable under this Act.

12. Protection of action taken in good faith.—No suit or other legal proceeding shall lie against the controlling authority or any other person in respect of anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act or any rule or order made thereunder.

13. Protection of gratuity.—No gratuity payable under this Act shall be liable to attachment in execution of any decree or order of any civil, revenue or criminal court.

14. Act to override other enactments, etc.—The provisions of this Act or any rule made thereunder shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any enactment other than this Act or in any instrument or contract having effect by virtue of any enactment other than this Act.

15. Power to make rules.—(1) The appropriate Government may, by notification, make rules for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act.

(2) Every rule made by the Central Government under this Act shall be laid, as soon as may be after it is made, before each House of Parliament while it is in session, for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one session or in two or more successive sessions, and if, before the expiry of the session immediately following the session or the successive sessions aforesaid, both Houses agree in making any modification in the rule or both Houses agree that the rule should not be made, the rule shall, thereafter, have effect only in such modified form or of no effect, as the case may be; so, however, that any such modification or annulment shall be without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that rule.

AURANGABAD*

23—Arise of 11 points

In August 1972, the Consumer Price Index Number for Working Class for the Aurangabad Centre with base year January to December 1961, equal to 100 was 223 being 11 points higher than that in the preceding month. The index relates to the standard of life ascertained during the year 1958-59 family living survey at the Aurangabad Centre.

The index number for the food group increased by 17 points to 249 due to an increase in the average prices of rice, jowar, turdal, gramdal, moongdal, masurdal, karad oil, varaspati (Dalda), dry fish and gur.

The six monthly House-rent Survey ending June 1972 was conducted by the office of the Commissioner of Labour, Bombay at the Aurangabad Centre. Accordingly the index number for the housing remained unchanged at 189.

The index number for the clothing and footwear group increased by 1 point to 194 due to an increase in the prices of sarce and poplin.

The index numbers for the fuel and light and the miscellaneous groups remained stationary at 168 and 176 respectively.

230—A rise of 3 points

In August 1972, the Consumer Price Index Number for Working Class for the Nanded Centre with base year January to December 1961 equal to 100 was 230 being 3 points higher than that in the preceding month. The index relates to the standard of life ascertained during the year 1958-59 family living survey at the Nanded Centre.

The index number for the food group increased by 6 points to 259 due to an increase in the average prices of jowar, turdal, gramdal, moongdal, urid-dal, masurdal, groundnut oil, turmeric, dry chillies, tamarind, banana, gur and canteen tea.

The six monthly house-rent survey ending June 1972 was conducted by the office of the Commissioner of Labour, Bombay at the Nanded Centre. Accordingly the index number for the housing increased by 5 points to 141.

The index number for the clothing and footwear group decreased by 1 point to 213 due to the decrease in the prices of long-cloth.

The index numbers for the fuel and light and the miscellaneous groups remained stationary at 166 and 181 respectively.

EMPLOYMENT SITUATION IN GENERAL IN MAHARASHTRA STATE FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST 1972

The trend in the number of vacancies notified to Employment Exchange was maintained during August 1972. Total placements obtained by Employment Exchanges during the month, however, showed a decline.

1,760 vacancies were notified to Employment Exchanges during August 1972 as against 7,149 in July. The number of applicants placed by Employment Exchanges declined to 2,651 in August from 3,353 in July.

A marked fall in placements is reported by Sub-Regional Employment Exchange, Bombay 1,039 as against 1,145 in July. District Employment Exchange, Jalgaon 32 as against 111. Sub-Regional Employment Exchange, Nagpur 211 as against 267. Sub-Regional Employment Exchange, Nagpur 84 as against 204. District Employment Exchange, Chandrapur 45 as against 230 and Employment Exchange, Pimpri 88 as against 146.

The fall in placements at the abovementioned Employment Exchanges is generally attributed to non-receipt of results of submissions and fewer vacancies notified by Central Government and State Government establishments which are their main customers.

Sectorwise position of placements showed a fall in all sectors except Quasi Government establishments.

940 applicants were placed in Central Government establishments as against 1,492 in July, 732 in State Government establishments as against 569, 516 in Quasi Government establishments as compared to 369 and 463 in Private establishments as against 523 in the last month.

Analysis of vacancies notified showed a rise in State Government and Private Sectors and a fall in Central Government and Quasi Government establishments.

1,760 vacancies were notified to Employment Exchanges by Central Government establishments as against 2,180; 1,403 by State Government establishments as against 1,347; 911 by Quasi Government Employers as compared 1,006 and 3,194 by Private employee as against 2,616.

Registrations decreased to 37,117 in August from 41,397 in July. This is indicative of a gradual return to norm after the rush of freshers for registration in the previous two months following the declaration of various examination results.

At the end of August 1972, there were 5,18,093 applicants on the Live Registers of Employment Exchanges awaiting employment assistance.
